Friends and coworkers, Rachael and Pippa, go on vacation to a resort. The chef is killed on their first day there, leaving no cooks. So, Rachael has to cook and try to figure out who killed the chef. The rent-a-cops in the area don't know how to solve a murder either. There are many suspects and no help. They are both still wishy-washy; Pippa more so. One minute she's in one mindset and then the opposite. I like the mysteries, but dialogue can be pretty iffy and reasoning is basically nonexistent. I mean they go to the resort and no one knows how to do their job from the backup chefs to the rangers. Rachel and Pippa are working on the case, providing the food service, and still do resort things like kayaking.

Can a few days away on a "girls only" retreat be good for Rachael Robinson and her newly married best friend, Pippa McDonald? Not when you have to deal with your town flooding as you are trying to leave. After arriving at the resort and finding out that the chef is missing and possibly dead, Rachael has to prepare food for all the other guests and solve the disappearance. So much for relaxation. Rachael was able to mentor the sous chef, Vicki and Aaron. Neither of which really have had any training, so the food being served is a mystery. Will Rachael and Pippa get any sleep and real food on this vacation? Will they solve the disappearance of Chef Ann? This series improves with each book!

Book 4 in this series is absolutely fantastic!! I really love this entire series of books by this author. Such good creative writing!! I don't ever go into a lot of detail about the book because I don't want any spoilers to slip out and ruin it for people who haven't had the chance to read this book yet, but with that being said, I will say this book is definitely worth reading!! I was completely surprised at the end to see who the killer actually was!! Can't wait for #5 to come out.

Rachel is a chef working as a baker who really wants to be a P. I. . Pippa works with Rachel in the bakery. Zany adventure await these two whether at home or on vacation. Taking a retreat they encounter a death the first day. Rachel identifies several suspects. But first she has to start cooking the meals, some vacation. A cute short story. For those who like lighthearted mystery. I received this book free in exchange for an honest review.

Vacation and murder... why not? Rachel and Pippa go on vacation to get away from the dreary weather and murder only to find another dead body. With a couple mix ups and a lot of thought they have to find the killer and catch them in time.

i got this as an ARC for an honest review and I have to admit that Stacey has done a remarkable job! I love the continuity of each of the books with Rachel and Pippa! You begin to feel like you know them and that they could be your friends. The many exploits that they have is amazing and fun to go along on. Poor Rachel - here she is taking Pippa on a "vacation" which Pippa has dubbed "NO MEN ALLOWED" and the first thing that Rachel notices is a handsome young man and would like to get to know him better. Everyone is in the dining hall waiting for the evening meal which looks like it is NOT going to be coming. So Rachel being a woman of action goes to find out what is happening. She doesn't understand the conversation she hears but soon realizes that there is not going to be a meal. The next morning the same thing happens - no food - what is going on? One thing leads to another and the next thing you know is there is a dead body found on the lake and Rachel's young man interest is the one who found the body. I had my thoughts as to who it was that murdered Chef Ann, but, was I surprised. Even Jackson isn't left out. You will love this book - it is just long enough to get your interest and keep you wanting more about Rachel and Pippa and their many escapades. Hope to read the next installment soon! Thank you again Stacey!

Stacey has done it again...another good mystery. Who done it will keep you guessing until the very end. I have read several of Stacey's books, and I look forward to reading all of her books, you will too.

Racheal and Pippa are together again. This time they find themselves wanting to take a vacation from their daily lives. However, will her vacation really be a vacation? When the body of the resorts chef is found floating in the lake, Racheal and Pippa realize that they need to find the killer or risk one of their lives. I love this series of cozy mysteries. Racheal and Pippa are very easy to relate. You find yourself wanting to go and help them solve the mystery and have fun. For some reason problems seem to find them. Stacey Alabaster has written a fun, relaxing but suspenseful cozy with twists and turns that you are not ready prepared for. Just when you think you have it figured out, another twist. I love following these two amateur detectives. I was given a copy from the publisher in exchange for my honest review.
