Synopsis

Civil forfeiture: the government's ability to seize, keep, and sell any property of any person they believe is involved in a crime—even if that person is innocent. All it takes is for an officer of the law to think the items were obtained through criminal means. The person is presumed guilty and must prove innocence to get back what was taken and the government doesn't have to provide legal counsel. What if this law is just another way for the US government to supplement their income while destroying every innocent person they deem a threat? What would you do, and how far would you go to protect yourself and your family? Joshua Anderson is the owner of a small logging business in rural Idaho, with over a million dollars in assets, and when the Forestry Service begins making bogus accusations, Joshua knows that it is only a matter of time before his country takes everything from him, including his life. But the government has no idea that Joshua will never back down setting off the Bonner Incident. It is time to take a stand, and the only question left: who's side are you on? Thomas Watson finishes the story started with his good friend Michael Rider after he passed from an accident.

Customer Reviews

Another great read by Watson and his pal Rider. Spoiler alert. Josh Anderson is a logger and owns a small logging company he inherited from his dad. Josh has always been a logger and enjoys the work. Josh is forty five years old and from the time he could walk his dad always took him to the logging sites. He has an eight man crew and right now he's doing a job for the Forest Service. A job the head Forest Service manager practically begged him to take. No one wants to work on Govt. lands anymore because of the inspectors who levy fines for everything they see as an infraction. Its 3:40 AM and Josh and his thirteen year old son William are headed for the site. This is what time he usually heads for work. Its the middle of April and there is still snow on the ground. The job has to be done before the snow is gone and bare ground is showing. That stipulation is in the contract. Once on site Josh tells William he can run the loader as they wait for his crew to arrive. William has run the loader before and has no problem. When the crew arrives, Ben, his foreman, tells William he's glad to see him at work. In fact the whole crew is glad. Ben tells him that in two weeks they should be done. The crew hops to it and begins to work. Of course they have visitors. A Forestry SUV with two men in it pulls up. The men step out and Joshua, who is in the loader, notices they are both wearing gun belts and neither he nor his crew recognize either of them. Josh knows Forestry has an enforcement division and even their own SWAT team but he can't figure out what they are doing here at his site. As he's running the loader his radio goes off letting him know a second SUV is now on his site.
