Learning From The Light: Pre-Death Experiences, Prophecies, And Angelic Messages Of Hope

Synopsis

John Lerma's bestselling book, Into the Light, inspired thousands of readers to discover not only what awaits us as we prepare to make our journey from earth to heaven, but, more importantly, how to achieve heaven on earth. In Learning From the Light, Dr. Lerma shares more angelic messages given to his patients and more stories from and about survivors who have experienced the loss of a loved one. . .and their visits with angels. The mystical experiences described in this revelatory work include: ** Messages about the future of the world. ** Lessons on how to prepare for a peaceful and joyful transition to the next world. ** Selfless suffering and its effect on humanity. ** Electronic voice phenomena (Evp). ** Interactions with white angels and dark angels. Based on the latest research on neardeath and predeath experiences, Learning From the Light will show you: ** How to achieve heaven on earth. ** How to achieve self-forgiveness and self-love. ** How to disconnect from your ego to awaken your spiritual self. Religious skeptics often claim that heaven's existence cannot be proven, because no one has ever returned to talk about it firsthand. This is the book that proves them wrong. John Lerma, MD, the bestselling author of Into the Light, is widely known for his compassionate and loving care of hundreds of terminally ill patients as well as his tenure as the inpatient medical director for the internationally renowned Medical Center Hospice of Houston, Texas. He currently serves as a consultant to several hospices and palliative units in Houston and San Antonio, Texas.

Customer Reviews

I would rather not comment on someone else's review because everyone is entitled to their own opinion no matter how skewed it might be. But I just can't resist the temptation to do a little clarification here. The person who gave this book one star and called it garbage because Lerma talks a lot about Jesus needs to understand something. First of all you are reading a book written by a Christian, not a Muslim, nor Hindu, nor Buddhist. You are reading accounts from people who have grown up in a Christian culture. If this book were written by a Hindu telling of the pre-death experiences of Hindus it would have been stories of people having visions of Krishna or Shiva and not of Jesus. This fact does not invalidate these accounts however. They are still real. I know it's hard to wrap one's critical thinking around this fact. There are whole courses in the annals of philosophy explaining why this is so. The Universal Something (whatever it may be) that we call God allows us to see it the best way that suits us. One of Lerma's patients even said so. So Hindus would naturally see Krishna and not Jesus. A Buddhist would see the deities of his religion and culture instead of angels. The spiritual realm appears to you in the way that you find most comfortable. For me, personally, I would rather not see anything. I would just want a nice peaceful feeling to accompany my passing over for that is what I strive for all my life and I think that that is what I'm going to get. You really get what you most deeply want. That doesn't make the experience any less real though. Simply because it's coming out of your most deeply ingrained wish fulfilling desire doesn't make it unreal.

In browsing through some book suggestions on topics like "Near Death Experience" and "Life After Death" I was led to this book by Dr. John Lerma, and his first, "Into The Light". They sounded interesting - a nationally respected hospice physician tells his accounts of deathbed experiences of angelic communication and out of body experiences. Having never heard of this author before I set the bar very low on my expectations. After reading these books I am pleased to share that I thoroughly enjoyed them both. I do not mean to boast but I am very well read in this area and have a library of hundreds of books on similar topics. I found Dr. Lerma to be honest, empathetic and professional. His experiences with his patients and their profound experiences have clearly shaken the foundations of his secular training. Dr. Lerma keeps the stories simple, without need for a lot of digression on his part. In large measure he communicates his patients experience, how it appeared to change them mentally, physically and spiritually and in turn how it affected both he and his staff. Most important and appreciated however is the information conveyed by his patients, either directly from angelic visitors and deceased relatives or from the experience of the patients in reconciling their experiences with their previous conceptions of life and what it is all about. These patients seem to calmly and sometimes even excitedly anticipate their impending death following the amazing experiences they have had. This book is just a simple collection of experiences by an open minded physician and his staff. These experiences have clearly changed their lives for the better in deep and powerful ways.
