Carnal Alchemy: Sado-Magical Techniques For Pleasure, Pain, And Self-Transformation

Synopsis

BDSM sexuality as a powerful tool for self-transformation and the realization of magical and spiritual aims

- Details how to combine the 6 major types of S&M stimulation with sexual stimulation for magical and transformative purposes
- Explores sado-magical workings from both submissive and dominant perspectives
- Traces the roots of the BDSM tradition from ancient pagan and shamanic rituals to historical figures such as the Marquis de Sade, Aleister Crowley, and Anton LaVey

Sex magic allows us to tap in to the most abundant power source available: sexual energy. Magicians, shamans, and fakirs throughout history have used physical stimulation and ritual to harness sexual energy, unlock inner states of consciousness, and activate the ability to influence their surroundings. While pleasure is often the focus of this stimulation, pain is just as effective, if not more so. Combining both pleasure and pain, the sadomasochistic practice of Carnal Alchemy offers a powerful tool for self-transformation and the realization of magical and spiritual aims.

Authors Stephen and Crystal Dawn Flowers explain the sado-magical workings of Carnal Alchemy from both the perspective of the submissive partner as well as the dominant. They detail the 6 major techniques of sadomasochistic stimulation--bondage, flagellation, piercing, penetration, clamping, and heat/cold--and how they can be combined with sexual stimulation for magical purposes. They trace the roots of the BDSM tradition in ancient pagan rites of passage, in indigenous shamanic rituals, and through historical figures who used this form of sexuality in their magic and philosophy, from the Marquis de Sade to more modern exemplars such as Aleister Crowley, Ernst Schertel, and Anton LaVey. This guide also covers specialized furniture and tools and the decor of the Chamber • to trigger states of consciousness in which the Sado-Magician can effectively express his or her will.

One of the newest trends in the magical world is the practice of sado-magic or BDSM practices in magical operations. In theory it works rather well, for magic to be successful you must visualize your goal, raise the energy and direct it then let your spell go. Sexual and BDSM practices are just one way. Of course BDSM is nothing really new. Ancient cultures had flogging rites both to purify the soul and raise energy levels. The Greek in their rites to Dionysus and Artwmsis are two prime examples. The native Americans practiced piercing and suspension in order to achieve trances. Various Christian orders also practiced flagellation. Most recently it was brought into updated practice by Gerald Gardner and Aleister Crowley. The author himself belonged to the Order of Triskellion. The order's main purpose was to bring BDSM practices into magical and mainstream acceptability. They have since folded and Robert North has opened up the New Flesh Palladium. BDSM has extensive history in both Japan and Europe. Flogging or caning is sometimes called the English Vice. In Europe some famous people involved at various periods of time would include Marquise De Sade, Leon Sacher Masocher, Robert North and William Seabrook. Marquise De Sade was a libertine who believed in developing his imagination. He was also into non consensual torture. Masocher who had a bad experience with an aunt discovered his love for pain. He was also into contracts and agreement. Seabrook practiced bondage and suspension techniques aimed at achieving the trance state. He wrote books about the Middle East and witchcraft. The book next covers the two types of universes. The subjective is like our dream world and the objective is the physical universe.
