Synopsis

The Sepher Ha-Zohar;or The Book of LightBY Nurho De Manhar (From "The Zohar: Bereshith to Lekh Lekha")The Zohar is a Kabbalistic commentary on the Hebrew Bible. This is the only extensive English translation of a portion of the Zohar currently in the public domain. Covers Adam to Abraham.Tractate Sanhedrin, Mishnah and ToseftaTranslated by Herbert DanbyThis is a translation of the Talmud tractate Sanhedrin, which deals with judicial procedure, particularly relating to capital punishment. The author is a Christian academic, and the translation includes the primary text (Mishna) and the second-level commentary (Tosefta). This book is a good supplement to the Rodkinson translation of the same tractate, particularly because this version has extensive scholarly apparatus lacking in the Rodkinson translation.

I cannot encourage someone to buy this book based on it's theology of Mysticism however, if a person is looking for a reference book, or a source of information, this book has allowed me to gather information which, I couldn't find even in the Babylonian Talmud to gain a better understanding of Judaic teaching.

This collection of stories which have been gathered throughout the ages and compiled within this book have a feeling of being both disjointed yet of fitting together perfectly. A terrific book for enjoying in small doses to inspire inner reflection and personal insight, as well as a window into Judaism one may not have seen before.
